

MRS. LANE HELD TO BOYLE COUNTY GRAND JURY

Woman Who Killed Husband Goes to Jail Without Bail—Couple Were Fighting

Danville, Ky., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Helen Williams Lane was held by Judge George W. Coulter without bond to await the action of the grand jury at her examining trial this afternoon on the charge of murdering her husband, Charles Lane, in their home in this city last Friday night.

The defense did not introduce any testimony, and the commonwealth only four witnesses. The testimony tended to show that Lane was drinking and that Mrs. Lane came to the door and called to several men to come and take him out of the house or she would kill him. The physician who made the post-mortem examination said that one of the charges struck Lane in the back of the head, crushing the skull, and another lodged in the side of his neck and ranged downward into the chest, while the third struck a slancing lick on the shoulder.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lane had been in an animated argument for 20 minutes before the shooting occurred, it is said, during which time she slapped him in the face, to which he offered no resistance. Lane had been to Somerset and brought home a quantity of liquor, which Mrs. Lane threw into the yard during the argument. The men on the outside called to Lane to come outside, and his response was that his wife could not kill him with two pistols.

The witnesses said the reason they did not interfere was the fact that they feared they might get shot themselves, as Mr. Lane was then between them and Mrs. Lane.

Mrs. Lane was composed during the trial and was unmoved by the decision of Judge Coulter when bond was refused. She was neatly dressed in a gray coat suit. The courtroom was taxed to its fullest capacity, and many were turned away. Among the spectators were many women. The testimony showed that the shots were fired while the couple were in a struggle.

EMBRY BEAZLEY

Buys Flour Mill at Shelby City And May Leave Stanford

Embry T. Beazley, of this city, this week bought from Luther Smith, of Campbellsville, the flour mill located at Shelby City and took charge at once. The mill has a capacity of fifty barrels of flour per day.

Capital Patent is the leading brand manufactured by the mill Mr. Beazley bought. He also manufactures meal and several other brands of flour. His host of friends here will regret to know that his new business will probably necessitate his making his residence closer to his mill than Stanford. All would regret to lose Mr. and Mrs. Beazley and family from this community.

Grand Jurors took a Drink

A dispatch from Columbia says that reports having reached Circuit Judge Carter that several of the members of the Adair grand jury had been guilty of taking a drink with some persons who, it was expected, would be indicted, he called the whole body before him and told them of his information. He delivered a straight lecture to the members of the panel and requested the Commonwealth and County Attorneys to question each member of the jury closely. In case any member fails to give a good account of himself he will be discharged.

Bud Holderman to Farm

Bud Holderman, the popular freight agent at the depot here, has traded his house and lot on Lancaster avenue to Mrs. Hatt, for her small farm near Hayden's Station on the K. C. and lying on the Goshen pike. Mr. Holderman gets about 45 acres and a nice little house, and will soon be able to set himself up as a gentleman farmer.

Hughes & Swinebroad, the hustling Lancaster real estate agents have sold to Capt. T. B. Robinson for Uncle Eph. Leavelle his farm of 161 acres on the New Danville pike, 4 1-2 miles from Lancaster at $76.25 per acre.

J. Waller Rodes, President of the Phoenix Third National Bank, of Lexington, treasurer of Fayette county, and one of the best known democratic politicians and farmers in central Kentucky, died at Frankfort Thursday as the result of an apoplectic stroke. A wife and eight children survive.

Garrard Farm Brings $12,000

Jonah Marsee, one of the best known farmers of the Marksbury section of Garrard county, sold his farm last week to Riley Ison, of Letcher county, for $12,000. Mr. Marsee had 122 acres, and practically all of it was first class land. Mr. Ison will take possession the first of the year. Mr. Marsee may decide to leave Kentucky. He has not yet finally made up his mind, but the meantime he is looking at a number of nice farms in this section in a prospective way.

LOGAN WINS SUIT

To Collect Full Insurance on Hotel Burned at Crab Orchard

Postmaster H. H. Logan, of Crab Orchard, won his suit before the Court of Appeals this week to compel the Kentucky Growers' Insurance Company to pay him $3,000 on policies he carried on his hotel which was burned there a year or so ago.

Logan insured his hotel for $2,000 with the company and afterward secured $1,200 more insurance. Afterward the house burned and the company contended that its policy on the house was void by its own terms because Logan had secured other insurance without notice to and consent to the company.

Logan contended that the agent of the company had advised him to take out more insurance on the building when it was completed and solicited his patronage. The company met this contention with the declaration that it is a mutual concern and as a member he is bound by its by-laws, but the court held that when an agent of the company solicits and issues additional insurance on a building the company is responsible, although its by-laws may provide that additional insurance on a house must be consented to and indorsed on the original policy, and the holder does not surrender any of his rights as policyholder by reason of the character of the company. Judge Winn delivered the opinion.

ALL DAY CONFERENCE OF WOMEN MISSION WORKERS

Baptist Ladies Entertain Delegates From Over South District As- sociation on Thursday.

The annual All Day Conference of the Woman's Missionary Societies of South District Association was held with the society of the Stanford Baptist church, Thursday, Sept. 20th. The attendance was good in spite of the disagreeable morning. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. C. McClary, Vice-President of the W. M. U., of the association. As the associational secretary, Mrs. Lee Curry, of Harrodsburg, was absent, Miss Ora Adams, of Harrodsburg, was appointed secretary pro tem. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. J. B. Jones.

In behalf of the Stanford society, the president, Mrs. E. L. Reinhart, then very graciously gave the address of welcome, to which Mrs. J. B. Honaker, president of the Hustonville society, responded in a pleasing manner.

Next followed the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, and then the enrollment of the delegates present. After this, all were much interested in the reports of the societies as given by the secretaries.

The quartette "Why Stand Ye Here Idle" was well rendered by members of the Stanford choir.

An excellent paper on Prayer in Missions was given by Mrs. Wm. Scott, of Danville.

The afternoon session was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Miss Mary Wood, president of the Danville society. After which, the president of the Harrodsburg society, Mrs. J. H. Morgan gave a most interesting paper on Personal Service.

It was a pleasure to all to have present the office secretary of Louisville, Miss C. E. Hunter, who made a very instructive and inspiring talk on various phases of the work of the societies. The inspiration she awoke in the hearts of all who heard her, will produce lasting results for good.

All were charmed with little Miss Marjorie Lynn, one of the Stanford Sunbeams, who sang so sweetly and with such child-like simplicity "Little Stars."

Much interest was manifested in the Question Box, as the various questions were read and discussed by Miss Hunter. About some of the knotty questions propounded, she not only gave her own opinion, but with great tact, secured the opinion of others. In fact some of the questions produced a general discussion that proved quite interesting.

Much was added to the spirit and pleasure of the meeting by the singing of the good old gospel hymns, in which the whole audience joined.

During the noon hour, everybody enjoyed and did justice to the excellent lunch that was served in the rear room of the State Bank & Trust Co., thanks to Mr. Salin and the bank for the use of the room, and to those ladies, who, unselfishly devoting themselves the pleasure of attending the Conference were "careful about many things" in order that 12 o'clock sharp, they might say to others "All things are ready, come to the Feast."

The delegates from out of town to the conference were:

Lancaster—Mrs. J. L. Riley, Mrs. T. S. Hendren, Mrs. Samuel Cotton, Danville—Mrs. Wm. Scott, Mrs. Henry Bright, Mrs. Joe Farris, Mrs. Wm. Mitchell, Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Mary Wood, Mrs. W. L. Wood, Mrs. Rineson, Mrs. Broadwater, Mrs. Annie Harlan, Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Jeff Sallee, Mrs. John Chestnut, Mrs. D. W. Mahan, Mrs. Dunegan, Mrs. D. Proctor, Mrs. Wm. Penny, Mrs. Hugh Reid, Mrs. Spears.

Harrodsburg—Mrs. D. R. Duell, Mrs. C. N. Wilder, Miss Lottie Lang, Miss Ora Adams, Mrs. I. C. James, Mrs. Hutchison, Mrs. Thos. Ransdall, Mrs. W. B. Hatchett, Mrs. W. A. Durham, Mrs. J. S. Edmiston, Mrs. John H. Morgan, Mrs. Warren Allen.

Hustonville—Mrs. J. B. Honaker, Mrs. J. C. Barker, Mrs. Jones Baughman, Mrs. Bertie Gann, Mrs. Will North, Mrs. J. K. Helm, Mrs. C. C. Ross, Mrs. Millard Herring, Mrs. W. D. Nave, Mrs. Dave Skinner, Miss Ellen Powers, Miss Maudie Ware, Miss L. A. Farris.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell publicly at Crab Orchard on Saturday, October 12, 1912, a nice horse and buggy, a good milk cow, and a lot of household and kitchen furniture, all in good shape. Sale will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning, and terms will be made known at day of sale. Col. J. P. Chandler, Auctioneer.

J. F. Holdam.

J. D. Wearen, the Stanford Insurance Man, paid K. Dunagan the loss on his barn which was burned a week or so ago, dollar for dollar this week.

Union Services of Welcome

There will be Union Services on Sunday evening next at the Methodist church. The pastors and people of the Baptist, Presbyterian and Disciples church will join in giving a hearty welcome to the new pastor Rev. S. H. Greer.

MULE COLTS HIGH

At Lancaster Monday—Vic Lear Buys Extra Nice One For $150

Mule colts were brought to Lancaster Monday, court day there, in droves, and prices asked when the buyers first began their rounds were sky high; so high that it seemed there was going to be little trading on the young hybrids. During the day, however, the owners, saw that they were asking too much and dropped in their demands considerably, so that trading became lively before the day was done. There was no haggling however, over the real good stuff, and some top prices were paid for the colts that had the growth and looks.

The top figure of the day was paid by Vic Lear, the well known Garrard buyer, for a very handsome and growthy mule colt belonging to Sam Sutton, of the McCreary section of Garrard. This colt was pronounced by all as the best animal shown during the day, and although the price she brought was the highest, mule men said she was the cheapest colt bought. Few foreign buyers were at Lancaster Monday, most of the purchasing being done by farmers and shippers close around. Joe E. Robinson and Squire Bourne had a busy day, buying a total of 16 suckling colts, which cost them from $75 to $90 a head. Mr. Robinson will feed them on his fine farm, just out of Lancaster. His brother, J. A. Robinson also put in a busy day, getting what he wanted. The Rankins bought a few hybrids but not many young ones as they prefer those which can quickly be made ready for the southern market.

BARN AND STOCK BURN

Bailey Holtzclaw Sustains Heavy Loss By Early Morning Fire

The large stock and feed barn of B. D. Holtzclaw, one of the best known farmers and stock dealers in Lincoln county, burned to the ground on his farm, five miles from Stanford on the Crab Orchard pike, about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Holtzclaw's wooden silo, near the barn was also destroyed. About eight horses lost their lives in the flames, a large amount of feed of various kinds, farming implements, harness etc. He estimates his loss at close to $4,000. He was protected with $2,000 insurance carried with J. D. Wearen, of Stanford, however, so that it was not a total loss.

There is no clue to the origin of the blaze, which awakened Mr. Holtzclaw and his family too late to save anything. This is the third barn which has been burned down in this section of the state within the past two weeks.

Yours may be next. See Fish & Bromley, the Insurance Specialists, and be safe. Losses paid immediately in cash without discount.

Lincoln Man Marries in Tennessee

Joseph E. Wright, of the Shelby City section, of this county, and Miss Mattie Lee Jones, of Columbus Tenn., were married there Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. After the ceremony and a wedding breakfast they motored over to Nashville, where they took the train for St. Louis. After spending a few days there they will go to Kansas City, and from there they will spend several days seeing the sights that Colorado affords. The bride is the daughter of Col. John L. Jones, a widely known stock man of Tennessee. He is President of the American Breeders' Association of Jacks and Jennets. She is quite accomplished and will be a valuable addition to the social circles of this section of Kentucky.

Mr. Wright himself is one of the largest and most successful breeders in Kentucky and has made a decided success in his line of business.

Slight snow was reported at Morganfield in western Kentucky Wednesday.

BUYS JERSEYS HERE FOR HIS WESTERN RANCH

C. L. Smart, of Utah, Gets a Load From Local Farmers and Also one at Lebanon

C. L. Smart, a prominent farmer of Logan, Utah, was in Lincoln county this week, buying a car load of Jersey cows which he immediately put on board the cars for his western ranch. He says that there is a great demand for a good milk producing bovines in the Mormon state and he believes that he will make the herd of Jerseys he is gathering very profitable. Mr. Smart bought a load at Lebanon before coming here, and was accompanied to Stanford by C. T. Bohon, the big breeder and farmer of Marion county.

Mr. Smart bought a total of 22 head in Lincoln, getting them from the following parties and at the prices named; from Jacob Gander, the well known German farmer near town, seven head at $52.50 each; from Adolph Von Gruenig, three milks out on the Hustonville pike, six head, at $50 a head; from J. W. Baughman, a mile out on the Somerset pike, four head at $40; from W. C. Shanks, on the Crab Orchard pike, just east of town, two head at $45; from J. H. Woods, three miles out on the Knob Lick pike, one for $45; and from J. L. Beazley, a mile and a half out on the Danville pike a couple at $45.

Mr. Smart says that he can unload these at his ranch in the west at a cost each of $7.50 freight and feed, which he believes is very reasonable. He says that if he finds them as profitable as he anticipates, he will return to this section again for a few more loads of Jerseys.

The Parade Circus Day

Too much cannot be said of the mighty Haug railroad shows parade which takes place daily on the public streets free for everybody and is one mile in length and introducing features never attempted by any other show for their street pageant. No parade is complete without a calliope and Mr. Haug has spared no expense in this everlasting feature of the parade. Not only have the Haug Shows one of the finest calliopes in the world, but have been fortunate enough to secure the services of Signor Lamont who is considered the premier of Calliope players, and will certainly gladden the hearts of the children, and everybody as well with up-to-date selections. Stanford Sept. 28th.

The 19-year-old Pensacola, Fla., bank clerk who stole a $55,000 sack of money from the L. & N., got "cold feet" and returned the money.

New Methodist Pastor Here

Rev. S. H. Greer, the new pastor of the Methodist church, preached his first sermon Sunday, and pleased everyone who heard him. A good attendance of the congregation was present and all gave him and his wife and family a cordial welcome. Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Dickey left last week for their new field at Worthville, after making a short visit to their former home at Perryville. Rev. and Mrs. Greer are occupying the Methodist parsonage on Danville avenue.

DIPHTHERIA SCARE

At Hustonville Proves Serious and Schools are Closed

Hustonville, Sept. 26.

The diphtheria scare proved to be something serious. Many doubted the fact, when pronounced diphtheria however the State Board of Health after an examination announced that it was the worst kind known. ## KILLED HIS BROTHER

Bryantville Farmers, Formerly, of Wayne, Dispute Over Land.

Percy Hager shot and instantly killed his brother, William Hager, at their home two miles east of Bryantville Sunday. William Hager was married and his brother lived with him. They got into a dispute at the breakfast table which was renewed later when they had gone to the yard, where the killing occurred. The deceased was thirty-six years old and his slayer thirty. Both owned a large tract of land and it is said that the dispute arose over some partnership land. There were no witnesses to the killing and so far as known no arrest has yet been made.

Immediately following the shooting, Percy Hager left going in the direction of Camp Nelson in a buggy. The remains of the dead man were interred in the Lancaster cemetery on Monday afternoon.

The Hager brothers, together with their father and another brother came to Garrard county from Wayne about two years ago and purchased the Holly Easley farm near Bryantville. The dead man was married and had several small children, while the one who committed the deed was single and made his home with his dead brother.

A local option election has been called in Pulaski county as a whole on December 10th. Judge Tartar issued the call this week. Somerset now has about 10 saloons, but the drys claim that a vote in the whole county will wipe them out.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membrane. Wm. M. Meredith, N. Bearport, Mo., says: "A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me of a severe attack of asthma and less than a bottle caused a complete cure." Refuse substitutes. ## CLARENCE TATE TO BUILD HOME ON TOP OF HILL

Plans Drawn for Model Modern Residence, To Cost With Appurtenances, About $15,000

Clarence E. Tate is having ground broken on his place on the Hustonville pike, on top of cemetery hill for what will, when it is completed, be the handsomest home in this part of the state. He plans to have the foundation laid before cold weather sets in, and to have it left open, to season and become firm during the winter. Then in the springtime the house will be erected.

Plans and specifications have been drawn for a magnificent home, together with all necessary outbuildings and appurtenances to make it the most complete and commodious imaginable. When completed the outlay for the place is expected to approach close to $15,000. There will be three bedrooms in the residence which will be equipped also with a complete modern waterworks system, electric lighting system, furnace heating, and in fact, every modern convenience and comfort. Mr. Tate also plans to have a garage for his motor cars, built in keeping with the beauty and symmetry of his home.
